

Freshly-Minted Capital Chapter Hosts Society's 2017 Convention & Leadership Training Conference

Siblings from around the country assembled this past March for the Alpha Delta Phi Society's 17th Annual Convention and Leadership Training Conference in Rosslyn, Virginia, just outside of Washington D.C.

And as always, the weekend was an exciting blend of business, awards, and antics.

One of the biggest stars of the weekend was the Capital Chapter. The Capital membership successfully hosted their first-ever Convention, applied for and received chapter status a mere three years after their founding, and enjoyed it all while operating under the full name Alpha Delta Phi Society, the first Convention during which they could do so (see Society President Kristen Soule's report on page 2 for more on this development).

This year's Convention also put the fun back in fundraising. A handful of donation challenges encouraged a total of $22,000 to be raised on behalf of the Society, including a whopping 84 contributions from young donors. Governors Liam Carpenter-Urquhart (Brunonian 2019), David "Toasted" Clodfelter (Bowdoin 1989), Dena Schwartz (Penn 2013), and Kristen Soule (Brunonian 1999) volunteered to take a cream pie to the face and raffle off the pie-ing privilege to a lucky donor.

Society's 2018 Convention Returns to the Middletown Chapter

The Alpha Delta Phi Society is thrilled to announce that the 2018 Alpha Delta Phi Society Convention will be held in Middletown, Connecticut, from March 22–25th! Join us this spring for a weekend to come together and celebrate with fellow Alpha Delts.

Delegates, Society Officers, and other Convention attendees will meet for the start of business on Friday morning, and continue through Saturday afternoon. Excursions and social activities will be planned for Thursday and Friday evening, showing off the best that the Middletown Chapter has to offer.

President's Report: New Agreement Launches New Era in the Society-Fraternity Relationship

by Kristen Soule, Brunonian 1999
Alpha Delta Phi Society President

I am thrilled to report this news from this year's Fraternity Convention in Minneapolis, Minnesota: the Committee on Fraternity-Society Relations has negotiated a new agreement, replacing the 1992 Fraternity-Society Agreement.

This joint committee spent years navigating the rocky shoals between our two organizations. We hit obstacles. We were warned it couldn't be done. Nevertheless, we persisted.

As a result, after 25 years existing under an agreement that was in many ways lopsided, this is a monumental step forward in relations between the two organizations, with updates that simplify our interactions and treat both of us as equally respected parties.

The most impactful and exciting change is that there are no longer any geographic restrictions on where we may use the name "Alpha Delta Phi Society." This change allows us to use our identity at all of our chapters and affiliates! Further, the complicated set of rules that had governed our expansion efforts have been reduced to a concise, logical standard.

This is a transformational moment in the history of the Alpha Delta Phi Society. From the Brown Compromise in 1973 which allowed women to be initiated as "local members" through the many negotiations of this agreement, there has been a long and varied history of an imbalance of power between the Fraternity and Society.

This agreement establishes a new foundation where both organizations can share our common roots and history, traditions and goals, and move forward in a relationship of cooperation and respect.

We finally have the parity, respect, and recognition we deserve, and it is up to us now to continue to thrive and grow.

Our total number of undergraduate members has been steadily increasing for the past THREE years. Our

Society President Kristen Soule

Development team once again broke the previous records for AMOUNT of funds raised during the 2016 matching challenge, and also for the NUMBER of young donors!

Over the past year, as a Society, we've been looking inward in many ways, for opportunities to improve.

We took a more cautious approach to expansion, and focused more of our energy and resources on our existing chapters and affiliates. Having two graduate chapters, five undergraduate chapters, and five affiliates at the time, it was the right time to focus on strengthening from within. One of those affiliates applied for a charter, ready to make that milestone transition, and the 2017 Convention ratified the Charter of the Capital Chapter!

Meanwhile, our expansion committee bent their collective thought toward improving strategy and procedures to streamline the addition of new affiliates in the future.

"We believe that there exists in society a native tendency which nothing can subdue, towards a higher and more perfect state; that amidst all its reverses, it retains a certain recuperative virtue by which it perpetually tends to recover, and more than recover, what it has lost; that its law, in fine, is the law of progress—of melioration."

—Samuel Eells, Address to the Biennial Convention at New Haven, Connecticut, August 15, 1839

The 2017 Capital Convention

And what began as an offhand silly promise from Jim Sabo on a board call (“I’ll shave my head if we get this many new donors”) culminated in a heated auction between banquet attendees for the right to shave Sabo’s head themselves. This year’s Sword and Spear winner Alex Mochring (Binghamton 2016) narrowly outbid Jenny Flanagan (Middletown 1983) for that prize.

Convention business was once again dominated by the Open Space format. First introduced in 2013, the orchestration of many conversation spaces at once proved a successful way to cover as many subjects and engage as many members as possible.

Convention attendees facilitated over 40 discussions through the weekend on topics like grant writing, political diversity, photography basics, and the philosophy of memes. Delegates of the Convention also passed a resolution to reign in spending on future Convention weekends, and a constitutional amendment was introduced to remove ableist language from the Society’s governing documents.

New this year, the Convention hosted a training session by Jennifer Dorsey from Uplift: Online Communities Against Sexual Violence. Jen shared her expertise on consent, healthy relationships, and power dynamics, and siblings joined the conversation with their questions and perspectives. The training was followed by a talkback-style open session facilitated by Uplift team member Christine Chapman. Uplift’s well-received presentation corresponded with the kickoff of a director-led initiative to increase dialogue about member safety, as well as the release of a new online incident reporting system.

Samuel Eells Literary and Educational Foundation Announces Graduate Literary Competition Honorees

Last year, the Samuel Eells Literary and Educational Foundation (SELEF) put a new twist on one of its richest literary traditions. To complement the annual student literary competition, SELEF started a new literary competition for graduates of all ages.

The Graduate Literary Competition returns this fall, and SELEF invites you to submit original, previously unpublished works of fiction, non-fiction, poetry, and photography to its 2nd Annual Graduate Literary Competition.

The competition is open to all college graduates associated with SELEF (Society and Fraternity members). The submission deadline is January 23, 2018.

SELEF will make a donation on behalf of each award winner to a charity of the winner's choice supporting a literary or educational mission. SELEF donated $1100 to local and national charities and nonprofits that advance literary education across the country on in the name of the 2016 winners, and the foundation plans to donate more in 2017.

Choose to share a single poem or dozens of short stories or photos—here's a great opportunity to showcase your talent and make your alma mater proud by submitting your original work. All entries will be judged anonymously. Go to samueleells.org/literary-competition for rules and how to enter.

Congratulations to the 2017 Alpha Delta Phi Society Award Honorees

We congratulate these Alpha Delta Phi Society members for winning the following awards at our 2017 Convention!

Society Order of the Sword and Spear

The Sword and Spear Award is the highest undergraduate honor recognized by the Society and is awarded to a member who has done outstanding work for their chapter, campus, community, and the Society at large. This year, Alex Moehring, Binghamton 2016, received the award.

Over the last three years as a member, Alex contributed to the Alpha Delta Phi Society by serving as the Binghamton Chapter's Social Chair in her junior year and becoming President by her final year. Throughout that time, she also served as Treasurer of the Undergraduate Parliament and helped plan the Society retreat.

Outside of the Society, she divided her time between working with Binghamton University's President on special projects to improve campus life and academics, being a resident advisor for two years, leading the Emerging Leaders Program on campus, and was a field volunteer for archaeological digs in Romania and Italy.

Society President Kristen Soule with Sword and Spear Honoree Alex Moehring

Emerald and Pearl Award

The Emerald and Pearl Award is given to an undergraduate who has made significant contributions to their chapter and the Society. This year, the award was given to Bre Tyrell, Ursinian 2017.

Bre is a founding member of the Ursinian Affiliate and before graduating this past May, she was the affiliate's Vice President and an Undergraduate Governor. Over the last year and a half, Bre has made a significant impact on her growing chapter by revising their bylaws, their pledge manual, building the chapter's website and making sure her fellow siblings have a fulfilling experience as members.

She's made her mark on the Society by leading an initiative to help chapters improve their website and social media platforms, serving on the nominations committee to elect new Governors to the Board of Governors, and making sure that the the voice of the undergrads is heard loud and clear.

Star and Crescent Award

The Star and Crescent Award is the highest honor given to a graduate member of the Society. It's awarded by the Society's Board of Governors to a member who has made outstanding contributions to the Society. At the 2017 Convention, Leah Stern, Middletown 2006, was given the award.

For eight years as a Governor, the last two of which as Vice President, Leah brought a sense of personal responsibility and self-reflection to our Society, and improved the way we empower and listen to each other. Always thinking about the next generation of leaders, speaking up with grace and thoughtfulness, her example has made our Society more compassionate, and more inclusive.

Leah upended the old patterns of Convention business, and Society communication in general, through the incorporation of Open Space Sessions at Convention, where all participants are encouraged to lead or attend dynamic, small group discussions on topics of their creation and their choosing, creating a fundamental shift in who is empowered to set the direction of our Society.

As one sibling wrote, "I can't imagine what the Society would look like today if she weren't so involved as a leader, sounding board, mentor, and role model. Her implementation of open space fundamentally changed the way our organization operates, and her communication skills set the bar on how to give each other feedback in a healthy manner."

Meet the Society's Leadership

The Alpha Delta Phi Society has added some new faces to our leadership in the past year. We wanted you to have an opportunity to get to know more about these graduate and undergraduates who are helping the Society grow and advance every day.

Graduate Governors

Christine Chapman, Brunonian 2014

In addition to becoming a Graduate Governor, Christine currently serves at the Society's Director of Technology, working on projects like the WildApricot database migration, the Convention website, and streamlining the New Member Bio submission process. In the past she served as Assistant Secretary in 2015 and an Undergraduate Governor from 2013 to 2014.

Ashley Taylor, Granite 2013

After serving as an Undergraduate Governor, Ashley is excited to start her term as a Graduate Governor. She's also served as a Convention organizer and Secretary of the Society.

Kristen Soule, Brunonian 1999

The President of the Society, Kristen was also pledgemaster to the founding class at Granite, a member of the Expansion Committee, and a Convention organizer. She also currently serves on the board of SELEF, representing the interests of the Society on the board and submitting the Society's grant requests.

Jim Sabo, Bowdoin 1992

Jim has been elected to the the Board of Governors twice previously—as a Governor, he has used his technology background to improve the day-to-day operations of the Society, working with other Board members and Directors to evaluate and configure the new membership database, and consulting on changes to the Society web site. He was also on the Convention Committee for 2016, helping to organize both the Society convention and Bowdoin Chapter's 175th anniversary.

Undergraduate Parliament and Student Governors

President: Carly Blaugher, Rensselaer 2018

Carly is the Undergraduate Parliament's new President after previously serving as its Secretary and Undergraduate Governor. During her tenure, she hopes to re-introduce the UP to current undergrads and new initiates. She also hopes to present it as more structured and transparent moving forward to ensure continuity and success for the UP's future leaders. Carly's favorite ADPhi memory is getting lost with pledges in her car just before their initiation.

Vice President: Lydia Ramharack, Penn 2018

Lydia is eager to serve as Vice President after holding the positions of New Member Educator and Historian at Penn. Their main goal for their term is increasing the visibility of chapters and their members through the power of social media. Their cutest ADPhi memory was throwing a coming out party in the Penn house after coming out to their parents.

Secretary: Emily Law, Capital 2019

As Secretary, Emily plans to create a form of minute summaries and solidify the roles as an elected, rather than appointed, position. She is currently Capital's President, after also serving as their Recording Secretary. Her best ADPhi memory was co-hosting Banquet at Convention 2017 with Jim Sabo and Kiah Fowler.

Treasurer: Daniel Ruan, Rensselaer 2019

Daniel is the new Treasurer, after cutting his teeth as the founding class Treasurer and Housing Manager at Rensselaer. His goal is to re-establish the UP Treasurer position, coordinate retreat planning, and set up a thorough framework for future treasurers. His proudest ADPhi memory is establishing a slowly growing cult for stacking and balancing objects in the name of architecture.

Concetta Magliochetti, Ursinian 2019

As a recently elected Undergraduate Governor, Concetta hopes to increase inter-chapter relations by encouraging undergraduates to visit other chapters during Initiations, Caucus, and Convention by personally reaching out to other chapters and establishing a personal connection with them. Her favorite ADPhi memory was when she and her siblings went to visit Plattsburgh during the chapter's Initiation last year.

Charity Guiquin, Rensselaer 2019.5

After serving as Pledgemaster and Curator at Rensselaer, Charity looks forward to her term as Undergraduate Governor. She aims to broaden her perspective and experiences within ADPhi to better her affiliate, and hopes to create an officer manual for establishing new affiliates. Her best ADPhi memory was running Rensselaer's first weekend-long retreat.

Nora Hennessey, Capital 2019

As Undergraduate Governor, Nora hopes to increase undergraduate member participation in national committees and start an initiative for training pledges in bystander intervention. She previously served as Interchapter Chair at Capital, and her favorite ADPhi memory was pelting Evan Finkelstein with plastic toy sharks at Convention 2017, in order to best him at Ziggy-Zogging.

Major Initiative Directors

Sam Davidoff-Gore, Brunonian 2015

Sam is the new Director of Expansion, following a brief stint as Assistant Director where he mapped out criteria for desirable expansion opportunities. As an undergrad, he served in many roles including Recording Secretary, Rush Chair, and Tea Chair. As Director of Expansion, Sam looks forward to revamping the Expansion Committee's outreach and internal processes as well as improving the support that the Expansion Committee gives new affiliates. He cannot wait to help the Society welcomes new siblings and affiliates.

Carling Mars (nee Carling Bateman), Columbia 2010

Carling was the face behind the Columbia Convention in 2013 and is now back after a break from the Society as the new Director of Philanthropy. She's excited to help the Society vet charities and nonprofits in order to find ones that best fit its interests. Carling also plans to create helpful guides and support for new philanthropy events for chapters and affiliates. If any members have feedback about philanthropy, send her an email at carling.mars@gmail.com.

Nassor Isom, Binghamton 2015

Nassor is the new Director of Operations for the Society after previously holding positions as an Undergraduate Governor from 2014 to 2015. At Binghamton, he served as the chapter's pledge master and secretary. As the Director of Operations, Nassor is looking forward to making sure the Society runs as smoothly and efficiently as possible by helping members with any issues pertaining to dues payments, updating contact information, and keeping siblings informed about upcoming initiations and events.

Melissa Diaz, Brunonian 2011

As Director of Chapter Support, Melissa strives to help chapters identify the improvements and changes they want to implement and facilitate access to the necessary resources. Melissa got her start as pledge master for the founding class of the Capital Chapter in 2014 and continues to be involved with the chapter as an advisor.

Tiffany Moustakas, Binghamton 2015

Tiffany is the new Director of Communications, following a year-long stint as Assistant Director of Communications under Craig Cheslog, Bowdoin 1993. As an undergrad, she served as both the President of the Binghamton Chapter and President of the Undergraduate Parliament during the 2014-2015 academic year. When she's not working on newsletters and posting gifs on social media, she's the Vice President of the Binghamton Graduate Chapter and Advisor to the Undergraduate Parliament. Tiffany looks forward to continuing to keep all members of the Society connected with what's going on and highlighting the achievements of both undergrads and alums.
